Gaining strength from her daughter … and music

10/5/2018

In recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, American Airlines and its team members and customers are "going pink" throughout October to raise awareness and critical funds for long-time partner Susan G. Komen®.

When Lima, Peru (LIM)-based Flight Attendant Patricia Bustamante, felt weak, she looked to her daughter for strength. At her own pace (and with a little help from one of her favorite songs), she kicked breast cancer to the curb. Now, she's added nine cancer-fighter sisters to her support system. This is her journey.
