CHICAGO, April 24, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- For too many people, the home is a source of stress and disorganization. But what if your home could work for you and not against you? How do you tackle the ever-growing "To Do List" and create a simplified home environment that is welcoming, comfortable and functional? One of the most frequently asked questions of designer Stephen Saint-Onge surrounds simple and stylish improvements that can work within the confines of a homeowner's existing space.

Saint-Onge and Whirlpool brand understand that many prefer not to undertake a major overhaul and are looking for tips and products that can work creatively in their space. According to Saint-Onge, changing your kitchen appliances can give your kitchen an instant makeover. You can use the new look of the appliances to inspire other decorative changes in your space. For example, many are choosing options beyond stainless steel and selecting white or black. With a collection like this, you might consider simple lacquered accessories like side tables, media consoles and bar stools.

And with the new Whirlpool® double wall oven, a unique FIT system ensures your oven can fit into any current cabinet configuration. With adjustable feet and trim options, you can get the oven you've always wanted, without overhauling your kitchen. The new line of wall ovens includes features such as TimeSavor™ Ultra true convection, AccuBake® temperature management system and Rapid Preheat, these ovens are built to fit into your lifestyle, help you simplify mealtime and save time in the kitchen.

"As a busy dad with a family - I love to cook - but the clean-up is the part that can eat up time. That does not have to be the case anymore," says Stephen Saint-Onge, Designer Dad. "Especially cleaning the oven - the odors that get into the air during that process is frustrating for the family as a whole - now there are solutions for that too."

Whirlpool brand also introduced a new line of ranges with AquaLift™ self-clean technology that simplifies the cleaning process and gets rid of the grease and grime left behind. AquaLift technology is 68 percent faster than traditional self-clean technology, using lower heat and just two cups of water to easily and quickly clean your oven. The ranges are created with the modern family in mind, with features such as a split rack, Power™ burner, induction technology and the industry's largest capacity, meaning you can now cook what you want, exactly how you want it.

Whirlpool ranges and wall ovens are available at retailers nationwide and online.
