Light & Wonder Statement on NV Legal Proceedings

2025-10-17

LAS VEGAS--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Light & Wonder, Inc. (NASDAQ and ASX: LNW) ("Light & Wonder," "L&W," "we" or the "Company") is providing an update on today's ruling from the Nevada Court regarding the ongoing litigation with Aristocrat.

The Nevada Court heard argument today and granted Aristocrat's renewed motion to obtain discovery of math models for certain Light & Wonder hold and spin games released since 2021, when Emma Charles joined the company. The Court previously denied a similar motion. While we are disappointed with the Court's ruling, we remain confident, based on the expert review we previously disclosed, that there is no evidence of Aristocrat math being used in any commercially released games other than Dragon Train and Jewel of the Dragon.

The US litigation process continues with fact discovery set to close on December 15, 2025 and expert discovery closing on March 16, 2026.
