

Macy's Activity in Government and Public Affairs – 2022

Overview: Macy's policies on political activity reflect our strong commitment to giving back to the communities where our customers and colleagues live and work. We encourage our colleagues to participate in community activities. As a good corporate citizen, we take seriously our responsibility to assist policy makers as they consider public policy questions that could affect our company, colleagues, and customers.

Political Contributions: From time to time, we make contributions from corporate funds to candidates for public office, to political action committees, and to business coalitions. We do not make independent expenditures in connection with elections. In 2022 we made no contributions to 527 groups such as governors associations and super PACs, or to influence the outcome of any ballot measure.

Political contributions are made in strict compliance with all applicable laws and are subject to review and approval of our Law Department and annual review by a Committee of our Board of Directors. We maintain written policies intended to assure legal compliance, proper tax and accounting treatment, and timely reporting as required by campaign finance laws. The policies require, among other things, that we consider a candidate's or committee's: 1) public integrity, 2) record on retail and business issues, 4) positions on non-retail issues that might reflect poorly on Macy's objectives, interests, or values and, 5) representation of a geographic area where Macy's has a business presence.

Macy's political contributions from corporate funds in 2022 were:

Contributions to candidates	$ 1,500
• People for Emanuel Chris Welch (Illinois)	$ 1,500
Contributions to political action committees	$20,000
• Illinois Merchants PAC	$20,000
Contributions to issue coalitions	$ 10,000
Total political contributions from corporate funds in 2022	$31,500

Political Action Committee: Macy's sponsors a political action committee called the Macy's Inc. Retail Issues Fund (MRIF), to make contributions to candidates for federal (and some state) offices that support our business and industry. MRIF is funded by voluntary employee contributions and administered by a board of directors including Macy's vice president of government affairs, corporate communications, and internal audit. The MRIF board considers the factors listed above when making contributions from the fund. Additional information about MRIF is available at www.fec.gov.

Trade Associations and Other Tax-Exempt Organizations: We pay dues to trade associations and other tax-exempt organizations to help our colleagues remain informed about industry and government trends and activities. Many of these organizations engage in education and advocacy activities with policymakers on issues important to their members. While we are a member of these organizations we do not exercise control over them and we may not agree with all the positions of each organization. We support them because they help advance the policy and business interests of our industry, company, colleagues, and customers.

Organizations to which we paid $25,000 or more in 2022 are listed below. The portion of our payment the organization told us was allocated for lobbying is also shown.
