V2X Awarded $103 Million U.S. Navy Contract for C-26 Support, Extending Legacy as a Readiness Multiplier

2025-04-28

RESTON, Va., April 28, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- V2X (NYSE: VVX) Inc., has been awarded a $103 million contract by the U.S. Navy for Contractor Logistics Support (CLS) maintenance of C-26 aircraft, reinforcing V2X's role as the best-value provider for this critical mission.

Under this contract, V2X will continue providing comprehensive CLS support, including aircraft engineering, upgrades maintenance and modifications.

"This award highlights the Navy's continued confidence in V2X's proven ability to deliver mission-capable aircraft with exceptional performance," said Jeremy C. Wensinger, President and Chief Executive Officer at V2X. "With a longstanding history of supporting Navy aviation, this contract reaffirms our commitment to providing mission-ready aircraft that enhance operational readiness worldwide."

"With readiness rates north of 90%, V2X consistently delivers mission-capable aircraft while managing all aspects of maintenance, personnel, and equipment," said Vinny Caputo, Senior Vice President of Aerospace Systems at V2X. "A key differentiator in V2X's offering is our numerous FAA Part 145 repair stations, which are readiness multipliers," Caputo added.

Work for this firm-fixed-price contract is expected to begin in June 2025, supporting eight C-26A/D aircraft stationed at four main operating bases, including one U.S. location and three international sites.
