V2X wins $190M U.S. Army Contract to Enhance Warfighter Readiness in Middle East Operations

1/4/2024

MCLEAN, Va., Jan. 4, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- V2X, Inc. (NYSE: VVX) was awarded a $190 million contract from the U.S. Army as part of the United States Army Central Command (USARCENT) Training and Range Operations Maintenance Services Contract (ATROMS). The competitively bid firm-fixed-price contract will span five-years, continuing V2X's support to USARCENT's mission in Kuwait as well as other locations within the U.S. Central Command (USCENTCOM) Area of Responsibility (AOR). V2X will provide training support services as well as instruction, operation, and maintenance of Training Aids, Devices, Simulators and Simulations (TADSS). These services are crucial in expanding the USARCENT ability to not only maintain but enhance warfighter readiness.

"With this significant contract award, V2X reaffirms its commitment to bolstering the U.S. Army's training and operational capabilities in dynamic environments," said Chuck Prow, President and Chief Executive Officer at V2X. "Our proven expertise and dedication underscore our mission to empower the warfighter's readiness for any challenge."

Given the challenging dynamics of the Middle East and USCENTCOM AOR landscapes, the contract facilitates the rapid deployment of a multitude of Live, Virtual, and Constructive (LVC) resources, effectively enhancing the strategic positioning of USARCENT.
