Vertex Aerospace Announces Corporate Name Change To The Vertex Company

3/4/2022

MADISON, Miss., Mar 04, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) – Vertex Aerospace today announces that going forward, it will be known as “The Vertex Company”. The announcement follows a successful acquisition of the new Vertex Technology & Training Solutions division from Raytheon Intelligence & Space. The acquisition closed on December 6, 2021.

The Vertex Company will operate two divisions consisting of Aerospace & Defense Services and Technology & Training Solutions. The Vertex ADS division will include the legacy Vertex Aerospace business. The Vertex TTS division will include all businesses acquired from Raytheon.

“The Vertex Company name reflects our strategy of offering expanded engineering and technical solutions to customers inside and outside the aerospace market,” said Ed Boyington, President and CEO of The Vertex Company. “Our new offering, combined with our existing operations and maintenance services, positions The Vertex Company to address the entire lifecycle of major programs – from concept to sustainment.”

The Vertex ADS division provides all levels of aviation maintenance, worldwide contractor logistics support, assembly services, systems integration engineering and integrated supply-chain solutions.

The Vertex TTS division provides critical mission support to strategically important systems, training solutions and customized engineering solutions for military, civil and commercial customers.

The company also updated its corporate identity imagery and website: www.vtxco.com. Email addresses will use the @vtxco.com domain. The company's headquarters will remain in Madison, Mississippi with locations around the globe.
