Information Everywhere, Architects Everywhere

NEWTOWN, Pa., Feb. 18, 2016 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- EPAM Systems, Inc. (NYSE:EPAM), a leading global provider of product development and software engineering solutions, announced today that three employees will be speaking in two different U.S. cities at World Information Architecture Day (WIAD) 2016 on February 20. This one-day global event brings together a diverse community of architects, user experience designers, content strategists, product managers, and developers to share best practices in digital experiences. The theme this year is "Information Everywhere, Architects Everywhere" and will be celebrated in 50 locations around the world.

David Farkas, Senior UX Designer, will be speaking at the Impact Makers venue in Richmond, Virginia. His presentation, "Improvised IA - How Improv Allows Everyone to Craft Products", will explore how to improve fundamentals to strengthen teams across organizations. You can find more information on the time and location of David's presentation here.

Clare Cotugno, Director of Content Strategy, and Rebecca Deery, Director of UX, both based in EPAM's Digital Engagement Practice Hub in Conshohocken, will be speaking at the University of the Sciences venue in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Their presentation, "Powering New Digital Experiences with Content Modeling," will focus on how content modeling is transforming the delivery practice by making omni-channel, data-driven experiences a reality. You can find more information on the time and location of Clare and Rebecca's presentation here.

Each location will feature a series of lectures followed by interactive workshops.
