Regions' regular business hours. Coaches work with clients to help them build their credit scores, understand and use credit wisely, strengthen their overall financial management skills and become better prepared to achieve homeownership, avoid foreclosure or accomplish other financial goals.

The service is provided free of charge and is available regardless of whether the recipient is a Regions customer. It is also available to people who have no bank account at all.

"Our vision is to create a stronger, more inclusive economy through financial empowerment - and financial dignity," said Operation HOPE Founder, Chairman, and Chief Executive Officer John Hope Bryant. "Imagine the difference our programs are making in people's lives as they improve their credit scores by 100 points or more. Think about the impact on families and communities as more people succeed financially. And consider the new investments and jobs that come to communities where people are financially secure. Operation HOPE is proud to work with Regions Bank in turning today's vision into tomorrow's reality."

Various HOPE Inside locations offer financial-management guidance for small-business owners as well. Program participants can choose to complete an entrepreneurial-training program that emphasizes topics such as credit and money management, accounting, marketing, business plan development and more. This counseling is also provided free of charge.

Regions began its partnership with Operation HOPE in 2014 with the establishment of the Birmingham financial empowerment center. Future HOPE Inside locations over the next four years will be determined by a variety of factors including community needs, the accessibility of specific branch locations to future clients, available workspace and more.

About Operation HOPE

Since 1992, Operation HOPE has been moving America from civil rights to "silver rights" with the mission of making free enterprise and capitalism work for the underserved. Through its core programs, the nonprofit has provided financial dignity and economic empowerment to over 2.6 million individuals worldwide, and $2 billion in economic activity for the disenfranchised—turning check cashing customers into banking customers, renters into homeowners, small business dreamers into small business owners and minimum wage workers into living wage consumers. Project 5117 is HOPE's multi-year four-pronged approach to combating economic inequality that aims to improve financial literacy, increase business role models and business internships for youth, and stabilize the American dream by boosting credit scores. Operation HOPE recently received its third consecutive 4-star charity rating for fiscal management and commitment to transparency and accountability by the prestigious non-profit evaluator, Charity Navigator—further establishing it as a best-in-class organization.
