The Cromwell's transformation into The Vanderpump Hotel is underway. Anchored in the heart of The Strip at Las Vegas Boulevard and Flamingo Road, the boutique resort is being reimaged into a first-of-its-kind destination. The 188 guest rooms and suites, designed by Lisa Vanderpump and her business partner Nick Alain, feature a beautiful mix of moss-green hues and touches of dusty lilac, creating a soothing palette with soft textures that encourage relaxation. Mixed metals, from warm gold accents to cool silver detailing, bring depth and sexy elegance to the space, while reflective furnishings help the rooms feel open, airy and expansive. Vanderpump will also hand-select room amenities for guests.

“Taking the next step from restaurateur to hotelier and partnering once again with Caesars Entertainment on another extraordinary project has been such an exciting chapter for me,” said Lisa Vanderpump. “Our vision was to create a room that feels like a true retreat, a calming escape just steps from the energy and excitement of the casino floor. The guest rooms are as beautiful as they are serene.”

In addition to reimagining the guest rooms, Vanderpump will extend her signature aesthetic to the hotel reception and check-in area, the gaming floor and common public areas, as well as introduce an all-new lounge. The hotel will showcase custom furnishings and lighting fixtures created specifically for the hotel by Lisa Vanderpump and Nick Alain's celebrated design line, Vanderpump Alain. The design embraces Vanderpump Alain's “industrial romantic” style, blending rich textures and modern glamour that reflect Vanderpump's refined taste. Guests will discover touches of Vanderpump's personality throughout the destination, from her eye for detail to hints of her cheeky British humor.

“Lisa's passion for creating unforgettable destinations is unmatched, and it's exciting to see her continuing to make her mark on Las Vegas with a boutique hotel that now bears her name,” said Sean McBurney, Chief Commercial Officer and Regional President of Caesars Entertainment. “Lisa has proven how distinctively she can transform a space with each restaurant she opens, and The Vanderpump Hotel builds on that vision in an entirely new way. Guests from around the world will soon be able to experience her signature style, elegant taste and meticulous design detail through a hotel experience unlike anything else on The Strip.”

GIADA, Starbucks, Interlude casino lounge, Drai's After Hours, casino operations and Caesars Sportsbook will remain open throughout the transformation. For more information and updates, guests can visit caesars.com/thevanderpumphotel.
