JetBlue Cancels Flights to/from JFK and Dulles Due to Winter Storm in Northeast

NEW YORK, Feb 16, 2003 (BUSINESS WIRE) --

Airline Waives All Change Fees And Fare Charges For Customers On Affected Flights

Due to severe winter storm conditions in the Northeast, JetBlue Airways (NASDAQ: JBLU) has cancelled all flights into and out of both John F. Kennedy International Airport (JFK) in New York City and Dulles International Airport (IAD) near Washington, D.C for the morning of Monday, February 17.

Based on current weather forecasts, JetBlue expects all flights to/from JFK and Dulles to be cancelled until at least 12:00 noon EST, Monday, February 17.

JetBlue is making every effort to contact and reaccomodate customers on all cancelled flights. In addition, the airline will waive all change fees and any potential fare increases for customers booked on JetBlue flights to/from JFK and Dulles on Monday, February 17.

JetBlue customers are encouraged to check the status of their flights online at www.jetblue.com or by calling 1-800-JETBLUE (538-2583).

Further updates will be issued as new weather information becomes available.
