NEW YORK and SANTIAGO, Chile, March 8, 2011 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ --

JetBlue Airways (Nasdaq: JBLU), New York's hometown airline, and LAN Airlines S.A. (NYSE: LFL / IPSA: LAN) and its affiliates LAN Peru, LAN Argentina and LAN Ecuador, one of the leading group of airlines in Latin America, today announce the launch of interline agreements that bring new connecting options for travelers flying between major destinations throughout the Americas via New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport.

JetBlue is a leading domestic airline at JFK, with more than 150 daily departures to dozens of major North American cities including Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Washington from its acclaimed home at Terminal 5.

LAN and its affiliates offer wide body service between JFK and key South American business and leisure destinations including Santiago, Chile; Guayaquil, Ecuador; and Lima, Peru. Through LAN's multiple hubs in South America, JetBlue customers can travel onward to destinations previously unavailable through the airline or other interline partners including Cordoba and Mendoza, Argentina; La Paz and Santa Cruz, Bolivia; Easter Island and Punta Arenas, Chile; and Montevideo, Uruguay.

Under the interline agreement, Customers will be able to purchase a single electronic ticket that combines travel on JetBlue and any of the LAN carriers, bringing new options and new destinations to customers of both airlines. On the day of travel, Customers will benefit from the convenience of one-stop check-in, allowing them to check baggage to their final destination and receive a boarding pass for all flights in their journey regardless of whether travel originates with JetBlue or one of the LAN carriers.

In the coming weeks, customers will be able to purchase JetBlue-LAN travel via the GDS, online travel agencies, and by calling LAN reservations or visiting www.lan.com.

"Teaming up with LAN means JetBlue customers will now have even more choices when their plans call for travel to South America and the South Pacific," said Scott Resnick, JetBlue's director of airline partnerships. "The LAN brand is well-respected for its service and its strong network, making it a perfect interline partner for JetBlue as we continue to expand our reach across the globe."

"This agreement expands LAN's interline network in North America and the Caribbean and makes it possible to connect passengers with attractive new destinations and offer more convenient connections including 150 new daily interline flights to and from New York, Boston, Chicago, and Washington D.C., as well as others in the Midwest and Western United States," said Armando Valdivieso, CEO of LAN Airlines Passenger Division.
