JetBlue Named Best Low Cost Carrier -- The Americas for Second Consecutive Year
NEW YORK, NY -- (Marketwired) -- 12/01/14 -- JetBlue Airways (NASDAQ: JBLU) was today named Best Low Cost Airline -- The Americas for 2015 for the second year in a row by the editors of AirlineRatings.com. The website celebrates and promotes excellence in the airline industry and the pinnacle of these efforts is its Airline Excellence Awards. The carrier scored top marks in both safety and product, a feat no North American full service airline managed to match.

"We are extremely honored to once again be named the best low cost carrier in the Americas. Awards like this from AirlineRatings.com is the most rewarding recognition our 16,000+ crewmembers, who provide exemplary service to our customers every day, can receive," said Dave Barger, CEO of JetBlue Airways.

"JetBlue has become the benchmark for air travel value in the US market and richly deserves this award. Unquestionably, JetBlue delivers the best value for money proposition in the US domestic market and JetBlue has brought a real touch of class to the US domestic airline market," said Geoffrey Thomas, editor and publisher, AirlineRatings.com.

Launched in 2013, AirlineRatings.com has attracted over 3 million visitors from 232 countries who have viewed 12 million pages. In a world-first, the website delivers expert safety ratings for more than 435 airlines around the world.
