JetBlue Advances as Top Airline in New York and Boston with New Syracuse Service

Aug 22, 2017

Airline to Offer Even More Nonstop Flights Between Upstate New York and New England

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- JetBlue (NASDAQ:JBLU), New York's Hometown Airline®, today announced it is expanding in two of its biggest markets – New York State and Boston – with new daily nonstop service between Syracuse Hancock International Airport (SYR) and Boston Logan International Airport (BOS).

The new service begins Thursday, January 4, 2018, and will operate year-round. Seats are on sale beginning today, with introductory fares starting at $59 one way (a). Travel must be booked by August 23, 2017.

"This route is especially exciting because JetBlue is bringing even more of our award-winning service to customers in our New York and New England markets," said John Checketts, vice president network planning. "And with the addition of Boston flights, JetBlue will now offer nonstop service and low fares between Syracuse and four of our focus cities stretching from Florida to New England."

JetBlue is Boston's largest airline, with up to 150 daily departures, and Syracuse will be the 64th nonstop destination from Logan. Boston day trips have never been easier for Syracuse flyers, and travelers will also benefit from convenient connections to popular destinations across the U.S. and throughout the Caribbean and Latin America. Boston service will also add a number of new connection options to top destinations like Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA), Philadelphia International Airport (PHL) and Nashville International Airport (BNA). Connections through Boston also offer customers more opportunities to take advantage of the airline's growing premium Mint product on transcontinental flights in the United States and to seasonal destinations in the Caribbean. Additionally, JetBlue customers can take advantage of more than a dozen partnerships with international carriers offering destinations around the world.

This route also boosts JetBlue service in New York state. The airline serves eight airports throughout New York – Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse, Newburgh, Rochester, and Westchester County, as well as New York's LaGuardia Airport and John F. Kennedy International Airport. From JetBlue's home at JFK's award-winning Terminal 5 the airline operates nonstop flights more than 70 destinations across the U.S., Caribbean, and Latin America.
