from the Chairman

Recognizing the impact that public policy decisions have on our stakeholders, WellPoint has made a commitment to be involved in the political process. Our efforts include policy development, direct advocacy, lawful corporate contributions and the sponsorship of WellPAC, the non-partisan political action committee of WellPoint associates.

WellPAC's purpose is to help elect candidates for federal and state office who share our mission of making health care reform work for our customers, our associates, our investors and the communities we serve. WellPoint pays the PAC's administrative costs as allowed by law, but all WellPAC contributions are funded through the voluntary support of eligible WellPoint associates.

In 2010, WellPAC contributed $596,999 to federal candidates, political parties and committees, and $192,581 to candidates and committees at the state and local levels. In total, WellPoint made more than $2.8 million in corporate political contributions. Additionally, our public affairs team actively engaged with lawmakers and candidates at the federal level, and in our 14 core business states. Further details about these political contributions and lobbying activities are contained within this report.

The passage of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act in 2010 didn't signal an end to health care reform for WellPoint. It created an opportunity for us to help positively shape how reform is implemented so that it works for all consumers. Participating in the political process helps us deliver on that commitment.

Political Contributions Policy and Procedure

As one of the nation's leading health benefits company, WellPoint can play a key role advocating national health care policy and practices to benefit our customers and the general public. Health care is an increasingly regulated and legislated industry both at the federal and state level. Elected and appointed officials make decisions that directly affect our ability to make quality health care coverage affordable and to improve the health of the communities we serve. Our active participation in the political process is essential to ensure that we have a voice in those decisions. At WellPoint, we are committed to advocating public policy solutions that best serve our customers, our stakeholders, our associates and our communities.

CORPORATE CONTRIBUTIONS

While federal law prohibits WellPoint from making corporate contributions to federal candidates, WellPoint makes direct contributions to support state candidates in those states where such corporate contributions are allowed by law and may make indirect contributions, such as hosting a reception and paying expenses associated with an event. Certain criteria are used in making corporate contributions, including the following which have been endorsed by WellPoint's Board of Directors:

- ★ Does the candidate support public policy that promotes private competition, choice and free markets in the delivery and financing of health care?
- ★ Has the candidate voted or announced positions on issues important to WellPoint and its customers?
- ★ Has the candidate demonstrated leadership on key committees of importance to our business?
- ★ Does the candidate represent a state or district where WellPoint has a large concentration of customers and/or employees?
- ★ Would WellPoint's contribution have an impact on the candidate's campaign?

WellPoint's corporate political contributions, both direct and indirect, are included in its total annual fiscal budget, which is subject to the approval and oversight of WellPoint's Board of Directors. In addition, a copy of this report is made available to WellPoint's Board of Directors.

Throughout the year, members of WellPoint's public affairs organization make recommendations for corporate contributions. The senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company must approve each corporate contribution. Other members of the public affairs organization involved with political contributions include the vice president of State Affairs, the vice president of Federal Affairs and their direct reports. In making corporate contributions, WellPoint complies with all disclosure requirements as prescribed by state and federal law.

WELLPOINT POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE CONTRIBUTIONS

WellPoint provides an opportunity for eligible WellPoint associates, as defined by federal law, to participate in the political process by sponsoring the nonpartisan WellPoint Political Action Committee ("WellPAC"), which allows them to voluntarily combine their personal funds to support federal and state candidates.

WellPAC disbursement of funds are made in accordance with a budget, and the same contribution criteria identified for corporate contributions is used in determining WellPAC contributions.

Throughout the year, members of WellPoint's public affairs organization and associate PAC members offer recommendations for WellPAC contributions. WellPAC contributions are approved by the senior vice president of Public Affairs of the company. WellPAC operates pursuant to all relevant state and federal laws, and complies with all public disclosure requirements. Information about WellPAC's contributions may be found on the Federal Election Commission's web site at www.fec.gov.

When participating in the political process, WellPoint associates must comply with the company's ethics and compliance requirements identified in the "Standards of Ethical Business Conduct," which is available on our website. This document sets forth appropriate associate conduct relating to political activity and contributions, as well as interaction with government officials and agencies.

Lobbying Activity

WellPoint engages in lobbying activity to advocate our positions on public policy issues with elected officials and others in federal and state government. These are issues that affect our company, our associates and, most importantly, our customers. In 2010, WellPoint spent $5.7 million on state lobbying activities* and $4 million for federal lobbying activities.**

In 2010, WellPoint paid dues to national and state business and trade associations of which a portion may be allocated to non-deductible lobbying activity.
