For the three months ended September 30, 2026, our GPW increased primarily driven by growth from our Other Insurance and Marine lines of business. For the nine months ended September 30, 2026, our GPW increased primarily driven by growth from our network of expanded underwriting partners, in several lines of business, partially offset by a non-renewal in our Cyber line of business that did not meet our underwriting criteria and rating hurdles.

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2026, net premiums earned ("NPE") increased due to earnings from higher net premiums written in the current and prior year periods, and as a result of higher gross premiums written in our Marine line of business.

Our policy acquisition expense ratio for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2026 remained consistent with the prior year periods.

The catastrophe and large losses for the three months ended September 30, 2026, were primarily attributable to losses related to the conflicts in the Black Sea and the Middle East in our Marine line of business. This compared to the prior period catastrophe and large losses that were primarily attributable to two loss events in our Property and Other Insurance lines of business. The catastrophe and large losses for the nine months ended September 30, 2026 were primarily attributable to losses related to the conflicts in the Middle East and the Black Sea, the gas plant explosion at the Ras Laffan facility in Qatar, as well as loss events in various lines of business including Other Insurance, Property and Marine. For the three months ended September 30, 2026, adverse prior year development was primarily driven by our Political Risk, Violence and Terror line of business, partially offset by better than expected loss emergence in multiple lines of business. For the nine months ended September 30, 2026, adverse prior year development was primarily driven by increased loss estimates related to the Baltimore Bridge collapse within our Marine line of business, as well as increased loss estimates in our Political Risk, Violence and Terror line of business and increases in prior year property D&F losses. These increases were partially offset by better than expected loss emergence in multiple lines of business.

For the three months ended September 30, 2026, GPW decreased compared to the prior year period, primarily due to the restructuring of a client's program. For the nine months ended September 30, 2026, our GPW decreased primarily from reinstatement premiums related to the California wildfires in the prior year period and the restructuring of a client's program. The decrease was partially offset by targeted deployment into areas where we continue to see attractive risk-adjusted returns.

For the three months ended September 30, 2026, NPE increased driven by our expanded network of underwriting partners and business mix. For the nine months ended September 30, 2026, NPE decreased due to the acceleration of earnings on contracts with exposure to the California wildfires in the prior year period and changes in our business mix.

Our policy acquisition expense ratio for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2026 increased primarily due to business mix and changes in ceded premium and commissions earned from outwards reinsurance partners.

General and Administrative Expenses

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2026, general and administrative expenses were $29.5 million and $88.0 million, respectively (2025: $27.2 million and $71.5 million, respectively). Also, improved financial performance resulted in higher variable compensation accruals in the current year.

For the nine months ended September 30, 2026, the increase was driven by positive performance from our hedge fund portfolio, partially offset by a negative change in the NAV on our fixed income funds as interest rates moved higher in the year.

Net Realized and Unrealized Investment Gains/(Losses) Excluding Other Investments

Net realized and unrealized investment gains/(losses) excluding other investments includes net realized gains/(losses) on sales of fixed maturity securities, available-for-sale, and movements in our provision for current expected credit losses.

NON-GAAP FINANCIAL MEASURES RECONCILIATION (UNAUDITED)

Attritional loss ratio and catastrophe and large loss ratio: the attritional loss ratio is a non-GAAP measure of the loss ratio excluding the impact of catastrophe and large losses. Management believes that the attritional loss ratio is a performance measure that is useful to investors as it excludes losses that are not as predictable as to timing and amount. The attritional loss ratio is calculated by dividing the losses and loss adjustment expenses, excluding catastrophe and large losses and prior year development, by NPE. The catastrophe and large loss ratio is a non-GAAP measure that is calculated by dividing the current year catastrophe and large loss expense by NPE. The reconciliation of these non-GAAP measures is included in each segment's summary of losses and loss adjustment expenses table.

Operating net income: is a non-GAAP financial measure of our performance which does not consider the impact of certain non-recurring and other items that may not properly reflect the ordinary activities of our business, its performance or its future outlook. This measure is calculated as net income excluding net realized and unrealized investment gains/(losses), net foreign exchange gains/(losses), corporate and other expenses, and the income tax effect on these items.

Annualized return on average common equity ("Annualized ROAE"): represents annualized net income divided by average common shareholders' equity.

Annualized operating return on average common equity ("Annualized Operating ROAE"): is a non-GAAP financial measure that represents a meaningful comparison between periods of our financial performance expressed as a percentage and is calculated as annualized operating net income divided by average common shareholders' equity.

Operating earnings per share ("Operating EPS"): is a non-GAAP financial measure that represents a valuable measure of profitability and enables investors, analysts, rating agencies and other users of our financial information to more easily analyze our results in a manner similar to how management analyzes its underlying business performance. It is calculated by dividing operating net income by the weighted average diluted common shares outstanding.

The table below sets out the calculation of our Operating net income, Annualized ROAE, Annualized Operating ROAE and Operating EPS, for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2026, and 2025.

	Three months ended		Nine months ended
($ in millions except for share and per share amounts)	September 30, 2026	September 30, 2025	September 30, 2026	September 30, 2025

Annualized Operating ROAE	15.3%	21.4%	11.8%	5.2%

Operating EPS	$ 1.00	$ 1.21	$ 2.30	$ 0.88

(1) Income tax (benefit)/expense on adjustments to net income/(loss). The income tax benefit for the nine months ended September 30, 2026 includes the reversal of a U.K. top-up tax charge of $21.4 million.

Book value per diluted common share, excluding accumulated other comprehensive income/(loss) ("AOCI"): is a non-GAAP measure of financial position. We believe this measure provides investors with useful information regarding our book value per diluted common share because it excludes the impact of AOCI, which may vary between periods due to, among other factors, changes in interest rates and credit spreads, and thereby facilitates comparisons of book value across periods. The effect of dilutive restricted share units is calculated using the treasury stock method. A reconciliation of book value per diluted common share, excluding AOCI, to book value per diluted common share, the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure, is presented below.

($ in millions except for share and per share amounts)	September 30, 2026	December 31, 2025
Total shareholders' equity	$ 2,141.2	$ 2,399.6
Less: Accumulated other comprehensive income/(loss) ("AOCI")	41.6	(37.1)
