AMERICAN AIRLINES PARTICIPATES IN EXPANSION OF TSA PRE✓ FOR SELECT INTERNATIONAL ITINERARIES

Time-Saving Program Expands Today to Include Eligible International Travelers

FORT WORTH, Texas – Beginning today, eligible American Airlines customers will have access to TSA Pre✓™ for select international itineraries. TSA Pre✓ lets eligible, pre-screened customers traveling from select United States airports ease through security without removing their shoes, belt, jackets or other light outerwear, and allows them to leave laptops and 3-1-1 compliant bags in their carry-ons.

“American welcomes this expansion of TSA Pre✓,” said David Campbell, American’s Vice President – Safety and Operations Performance. “Eligible American Airlines customers who are traveling internationally using boarding passes issued by American will now be able to take advantage of Pre✓’s expedited screening benefits at 29 airports we serve.”

American Airlines customers can participate in TSA Pre✓ if they are a U.S. citizen and an AAdvantage® program member who received an opt-in invitation; if they are a U.S. citizen enrolled in a Customs and Border Protection Trusted Traveler program including Global Entry, SENTRI and NEXUS; or if they are a Canadian citizen traveling within the U.S. and a member of NEXUS.

When customers opt in to TSA Pre✓, American shares certain reservations and AAdvantage account information with the TSA Secure Flight System. Once a customer is accepted by TSA, the barcode on their boarding pass will be updated to reflect their eligibility. Because TSA incorporates random security measures, eligibility for expedited screening will be determined on a per-flight basis. Participation in Global Entry, SENTRI and NEXUS does not guarantee eligibility in TSA Pre✓.

American was one of the first airlines to participate in TSA Pre✓ when it began in October 2011. For more information about the program, please visit aa.com/tsaprecheck.
