

American Airlines Successfully Consolidates Operations Into New York LaGuardia's Terminal B

12/9/2017

American Airlines customers can now enjoy an improved experience at New York's LaGuardia Airport (LGA). Beginning today all American flights are operating out of Terminal B. This consolidated operation means all customers will check in at Terminal B, and American will operate flights from each of the terminal's four concourses.

"I am humbled by the outpouring of support from every department within American," said Loretta Bove, managing director – LGA Hub Operations. "And very proud of the work our team has done while caring for each other and our customers to make this move seamless."

To ensure smooth travels for customers, American's customer assistance representatives will be stationed throughout Terminal B, as well as in American's previous space in Terminal C, to guide customers and answer questions. Customers are encouraged to check the American app or aa.com for the most up-to-date flight information.
