American Airlines Newsroom

NEWS RELEASE

Cancer fighter thankful for colleagues' support

10/31/2018

Myrtle Norman, an Aviation Maintenance Technician at Tech Ops – Tulsa, has been with American for more than 20 years. She spends most days working with her colleagues to keep everything in the cabins of our Boeing 737s functioning properly. Three years ago, when Myrtle was diagnosed with breast cancer, it was these colleagues whom she leaned on for support. Learn more about Myrtle's diagnosis and her advice for those currently fighting cancer; it's all in the video below.

