Showing their skills

5/5/2022

The 2022 Aerospace Maintenance Competition (AMC) hosted teams from around the world to test their aviation maintenance skills and knowledge in 27 different events. This year, American Airlines sent six teams to compete, including its first all-female and all-Hispanic teams, from Chicago, Dallas-Fort Worth, Los Angeles, Miami, New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Tulsa, Oklahoma.

American's Team Tulsa and DWH Air Raiders took second and third place, respectively, in the MRO category and an American-sponsored student team, Tulsa Tech, placed first in the overall School category. Several American Airlines teams and American-sponsored student teams also placed the best scores in individual events, including team AA Chicago, DWH Air Raiders and Team Tulsa. Here's a peek at this year's event, which was held April 26-28 in Dallas. Congratulations #AATeam!
