A pilot's return to the flight deck after cancer

2025-09-30

Capt. David Currier's multiple myeloma diagnosis came as a shock. He was seemingly healthy and active, and he didn't suspect any incoming trouble regarding his health.

David's first thought following his diagnosis — even before considering his own mortality — was whether he would fly again. Watch more about David's cancer journey and how his passion to make it back to the flight deck gave him hope.
