American Airlines is focused on giving customers more control and convenience throughout their journey — even before their travels begin. The airline is expanding its digital wallet integrations to Samsung Wallet, becoming the first U.S. airline to offer direct boarding pass integration for Samsung users.

This latest launch builds on the airline's existing integrations with other digital wallets, ensuring customers can access real-time boarding pass updates right on their phone. By connecting boarding passes directly to digital wallets, customers receive live updates from American, including:

- Flight day and departure time
- Terminal and gate changes
- Seat information
- Flight number
- Boarding time changes
- Push notifications (if opted in)

This seamless experience makes travel day easier for customers and keeps important trip details at their fingertips.
