

NEWS RELEASE

American Airlines flights between Venezuela and the US now available

2026-04-20

FORT WORTH, Texas — American Airlines is now offering tickets for sale for its service between Caracas, Venezuela (CCS), and Miami (MIA). The new service will launch on April 30, and tickets can be purchased on aa.com or American’s mobile app.

Flights to Caracas will be operated by Envoy, a wholly owned subsidiary of American Airlines Group, on an Embraer 175 dual-class aircraft that offers a premium cabin, and features customer-friendly amenities including free Wi-Fi, sponsored by AT&T, and in-seat power.

Departure city	Arrival city	Departure time	Arrival time	Aircraft type
Miami (MIA) CCS	Caracas, Venezuela (CCS) MIA	10:16 a.m. ET 2:40 p.m. ET	1:36 p.m. ET 6:13 p.m. ET	Embraer 175 Embraer 175

American started operating in Venezuela in 1987 and served as the largest U.S. airline in the country before suspending service in 2019. American connects more destinations nonstop to the U.S. than any other airline across the Caribbean and Latin America, providing crucial links for decades that have enabled business, family, friends, leisure and humanitarian travel.

About American Airlines Group (NASDAQ: AAL)

American Airlines is a premium global airline connecting more of the U.S. to the world. With roots tracing back to an air mail carrier in the Midwestern United States in 1926, American now operates more than 6,000 daily flights to more than 350 destinations in more than 60 countries and serves more than 200 million customers annually. Powered by a proud and talented team of 130,000 aviation professionals, American's team lives out the airline's purpose of caring for people on life's journey every day.

The world's largest airline proudly celebrates its centennial year in 2026, reaching a milestone that reflects a century of innovation and the Forever ForwardSM spirit that changed the industry and the world. American introduced the first scheduled air cargo service, the first airport lounge and the first airline loyalty program and continues to reinvent the customer experience today. The airline is also a founding member of the oneworld alliance, whose members serve more than 900 destinations around the globe.

Get the latest about American at news.aa.com and @AmericanAir.