Business travel, rewarded: The AAdvantage Business program helps companies go the extra mile

2025-05-28

American Airlines is always looking for ways to make travel more rewarding, and for companies enrolled in the AAdvantage Business™ program, it's doing just that. With travel management tools and the ability to earn miles on eligible travel booked anywhere with American, the AAdvantage Business™ program is designed to help companies of all sizes turn everyday work trips into long-term value.

Smarter travel, shared rewards

Through the AAdvantage Business™ program, companies earn miles on business travel that can be redeemed for future flights, all while employees still earn miles and Loyalty Points toward their own AAdvantage® status. Plus, when traveling for business, registered travelers can earn additional Loyalty Points that are deposited directly into their AAdvantage® account. It's a win-win that makes every trip more rewarding.

Whether booking for an individual or a team, the experience is seamless, and the benefits add up quickly.

Real companies, real results

Businesses of all sizes are seeing the benefits of joining the program:

Megan Kay Photography

As a luxury destination wedding and fashion photography business, Megan Kay Photography depends on frequent travel. Megan Buhr, founder of Megan Kay Photography, uses the AAdvantage Business™ program to streamline employee travel bookings, earn miles for the company and allow team members to earn additional Loyalty Points — all through a simple and efficient platform.
