S1:E1 A conversation about inspiring the next generation

12/7/2023

Season 1, episode 1 of the Conversations podcast is now available on YouTube and all major podcasting platforms.

How do we inspire the next generation of aviators? One way is providing easy access to introductory aviation STEM education and connecting students to professionals with similar backgrounds and experiences. This is how students build confidence and self-identity in the aviation industry.

Marie Eve Poirier-Harris, Director of Education at the CR Smith Museum, sits down with #AATeam Engineer Karon Washington to discuss how the museum, American Airlines and Dallas Independent School District have teamed up to inspire the next generation of airline professionals through the Aviation Career Pathways program.
