AES Announces Pricing of $775 Million of Floating Rate Notes in Public Offering

ARLINGTON, Va., May 15, 2014 – The AES Corporation (NYSE: AES) announced that it has priced $775 million aggregate principal amount of floating rate notes due 2019 (the “Notes”). The Notes will bear interest at a rate of 3.0% above three-month LIBOR, reset quarterly. AES intends to use the net proceeds from the offering of the Notes to repay substantially all of the outstanding term loans under its senior secured term loan facility, after which AES expects approximately $30 million would remain outstanding. The remaining terms loans outstanding under the senior secured term loan facility are expected to be repaid following the receipt of proceeds from a previously announced sale of assets in Cameroon. The closing of the offering of the Notes is expected to occur, subject to certain customary conditions, on May 20, 2014 (T + 3).

In the Preliminary Prospectus Supplement, dated May 15, 2014, AES disclosed that, following the pricing of this offering, it intended to seek amendments to its senior secured term loan facility. AES believes that this offering will result in net proceeds sufficient to repay substantially all of the senior secured term loan facility and, as such, no longer intends to seek any amendments to such facility following the pricing of this offering.
